III. School Improvement Plan Mid-Year Review	Ms. Roundtree-Jones gave a review of the SIP Mid-Year Review. During the Fall semester, Wingate Oaks Center worked to increase students' use of targeted core words across instructional settings. Initial implementation challenges included inconsistent AAC modeling across centers, varying staff confidence using AAC devices, limited accessibility of core word boards in some areas, inconsistent data collection, and students' reliance on adult prompts for communication. To address these challenges, the school strengthened expectations for AAC modeling during walkthrough feedback, provided targeted professional development on core word integration, increased access to laminated and individualized core word boards, implemented a standardized data collection template, and established SLP–teacher co-modeling sessions. AAC implementation and student progress are monitored through bi-weekly data collection, monthly data chats, and quarterly progress reviews. Mid-year data show improved adult modeling and increased prompted core-word usage. The next phase will focus on increasing student independence and generalization of communication skills across settings to meet the May 2026
