South Area Advisory Meeting

Chair: Antoinette Bailey

Resource Website: Broward Powered by AI

Presentation Topic: Broward Powered by AI: From Vision to System Readiness

(Presentation given by Thomas Correll, Director, Instructional Innovation & Digital Learning, Office of Academics.)

Attended by SAF chair for STMS: ToniAnn Jacoby

Broward Powered by AI expands opportunities for all students and teachers, if used properly.

This program will not replace people, professional judgment or relationships.

Everything that is done with this program will be done Ethically and with transparency.

This program is a Tool that will answer questions, similar to AI tools like Chat GPT. This program will have an area where you can submit any question for any topic or event and it will have an answer for you within 24 hours.

This program is optional and if used properly, will assist teachers to enhance instruction and provide additional instructional material which will allow teachers to effectively manage their time, and have access to unlimited resources. This program will also help guide teachers with their thought and provide them with organized structure.

This program will not be used for grading or replace any instruction. This program is accessible to students only when assigned by the teacher.

Magic Student Powered by AI: This program has to be teacher enabled per assignment. This program is optional at the teacher's discretion for use. This program will not be allowed to answer student homework questions directly, but will provide them with three (3) points they can pose to the program to assist them and guide them in the right direction. These three (3) points or questions will enable feedback. The teachers will see everything they are asking and corrections made. For example, if the student needs help with a math problem, this program will not give them the direct answer, but it will provide them with similar questions and guide them through the steps to get to the answer. Additionally, this program will not write the essays for the students, this program will assist the students in key points they will need to write a successful essay or review it and suggest that additional text evidence or other requirements be added.

This program will alert the teachers if the program is being used in an unethical manner. This program will also alert teachers and administration if there is some further area of concern. For example, if the student is talking about self-harm, or threats. This program is set up to recognize those key terms. This program is also set up to let you know if the student copy and pasted the information.

The district is looking for a balance so that this program can be used to help and enhance and not take away the skills learned and acquired that are needed in essay writing, etc. Once of the solutions they are looking into is to still require class conversations and class writing. They only want to use this took to enhance efficiency, time management and organizational structure. The district will be setting up a task force in the future to work on this model.

The district is also working closely with all ESE Departments on a program called Magical School. This program is connecting IEPs through Broward powered by AI and to hold the school accountable, closely monitor and to ensure monthly meetings.

Principals can use this AI tool to print out data and understand where our achievement gaps are and this all can be accomplished in a more time effective manner.

Currently, Broward Powered by AI is not offered yet at the elementary level but that is something they are looking to possibly implement in the future for digital literacy.

Students at the middle school and high school lever that are using it and testing the program out, upon the direction for teachers and administration are the Districts High Achieving Students.

This program cost the district $0.00. This program will not take any other budget away from the schools. There has been donations, studies and textbook adoption that has funded this program.

Redefining Schools topic:

The district will have a meeting on August 25, 2026 to discuss the redefining school's topic.

As this is ultimately a school board decision, they take into consideration community input and encourage everyone to voice their concerns.
